Making PDF using Python

Creating PDFs in Python is simple and efficient with the FPDF library. It allows you to add pages, write text, insert images, and customize layout with minimal code. FPDF is lightweight, easy to learn, and works without external dependencies. By using functions like add_page(), set_font(), and cell(), you can quickly generate clean, professional PDF documents for reports, invoices, or automation tasks.